Welcome to Ängelholm

Ängelholm is beautifully situated furthest in Skålderviken on Skånes Northwest coast. The city was founded in 1516 by the Danish King Christian II, but originally it was the medieval city Luntertun, which was at the outlet on Rönne’s Ridge.

Ängelholm currently has 38,000 inhabitants and offers a diverse range of experiences. From those looking for an active holiday or for anyone who just wants to relax and enjoy the beautiful scenery.

Ängelholms Sea Bathing

Already in the late 1800s, Ängelholm was a well known seaside resort, where beautiful beaches succeed each other one after another. Ängelholms Havsbad is well-known for its unique dune landscape, and the high dunes stretch from "Sibirien" in the south to Skälderviken in the north. The six kilometer long child-friendly beach, with it's lovely soft sand, invites you not only during the summer's best moments in the sun, but also to the fresh autumn and winter promenades.

Sweden's Railway Museum

A modern museum displaying how our Swedish railways were built and how the technique has developed. Experience over 150 years of railway history in the exciting atmosphere. Swedish Railway Ängelholm is a modern museum experience for the entire family. See the large model for railway development and related slideshows - from horse-drawn vehicles to the current X2000. Or take a ride in the simulator LOCOMOTION. For children and adults there are popular point walks and the "lekstallet" is filled with toys. You can build and run the toys and model trains. Draw, play games or relax with a book.

Loklekis is a popular meeting place. Many of the small new museum visitors have already become regular visitors.

Nature

Djurholmen Recreation Area

Up on Hallandsåsen Ridge, over Lake Västernsjön, is the recreation area called Djurholmen. It is a large area with an exciting nature and remnants of old farmland from the 1800s. Several hiking trails lead through the wild nature of past cultural ruins such as a cottage and shelters. There is a lookout tower and grill sites.

Take E6 North, exit nr 37, through Hjärnarp, past Lerbäckshult and Faxeröd.

Hallandsåsen (Ridge)

Hallandsåsen is approximately an 80 million year old primary rock horst (fault), and is an actual border between Halland and Skåne. The ridge is between 5 and 10 km wide and 40 km long, from Hovs Hallar to Örkelljunga. The highest point is Högalteknall, 226 miles above sea level. The vegetation consists of forests, beech and implanted spruce trees, bogs, heather moorland and pastures. In the mountain's southern route, there are several deep ravines, including the Trollehällar with up to 35 m high walls.

www.hallandsasen.se

Kronskogen (Forest)

The beach forests in Ängelholm are one of the few natural areas with a coastal dune landscape in Sweden. The forest is a result of one of the first state-funded wildlife projects in Sweden, including a forest, which began in mid-1700's. In addition, the beach offers exercise and hiking trails in an area with rich flora and fauna.

www.strovomraden.se

Lakes Västernsjön och Rössjön

Lakes Västernsjön and Rössjön were formed by a large iceberg and are called "dö-dissjöar." The water comes through multiple streams from Hallandsås bogs and swamps. There is rich vegetation with yellow and white water lilies, water lobelia and rigid bream grass. In Västernsjön, you can swim and fish; here is an excellent stock of pike-perch, pike, perch, eel and bream. Fishing licenses can be purchased from places such as the Ängelholm Tourist Office. Lake Rössjön is a bird sanctuary.

Vegeå River

In the waters outside the Vegeåns Rivers mouth, are fine sand and clay bottoms with a lot of food and there is also a rich bird life. For example, the Pied Avocet (a wader), Little Terns, the Common Tern and the Meadow Pipit. One of the species in the bird population is red-listed internationally and five are nationally red listed. The Red List is a special protection under the Berne Convention. The area is an important breeding place for flat fish and therefore, particularly important for professional fishing. On the vegetation side, the experts mention mainly species such as; heather, bell heather, angular, stonecrop and samphire.

UFO-The Glades in Ängelholm

Have creatures from another planet landed in Ängelholm? The incident took place in a forest clearing May 18, 1946. The 28-year-old Gösta Carlsson was returning from his job at SJ. He went through the forest and suddenly saw a bright light among the trees. Above him was a discus-shaped craft with a cup on the roof. Around the craft were 11 creatures, both men and women. One of the creatures made a stop signal towards Gösta. He saw how they tried to fix the broken craft. In order to convince himself that everything really did happen, Gösta went down to the beach and waded out into the icy water. When he returned, he saw the UFO lift up towards the sky and disappear at high speed. The grass appeared to have burn marks, as well as the large adjacent tree. He found part of a pole, two cups of strong milky white solvent and a ring of metal. The meeting initiated a series of amazing events. Through contacts, he made a theory as to why the craft landed just in this forest. In the book, "Mötet i Gläntan," (The Meeting in the Glades) he tells all about his experiences.

Ängelholms Church

In Luntertun, an old town at the mouth of the Rönneåns River, you will find the ruins of Ängelholms churches medieval predecessors. Sole inventory from Luntertun is the smallest church bell from 1470. The first church on the present site began in 1516. The current church dates from 1868 and the interior from 1941. The altar cabinet and glass paintings are by Torsten Nordberg. The church was last renovated in 2000.
