Welcome to Bjärehalvön and Båstad

As a tourist in Båstad, you have much to look forward to. Here you can enjoy the lovely beaches, visit the Norrvikens Trädgårdar (Gardens) and enjoy good food while seated outdoors.

Båstad is the largest urban area in Bjärehalvön and known for the Swedish Open in tennis and Båstad Tennis Stadium, which is the main outdoor tennis facility. It can seat approximately 6,000 spectators and when the matches begin, Båstad bursts with life. For the little younger players, there is the famous tournament called the “Kalle Anka Cup.”

When you tour Båstad, don’t miss a visit to Norrvikens Trädgårdar (Gardens), with its endless beauty. It is located along the Hallandsås slope. Just above the Kattegatt cliff beaches, the rippling streams from the Scanian Forest and the renaissance gardens offer breathless views.

Skottorps Stoneware

Our profession is pottery. The brothers, Åke and Anders Walldén, have shaped clay in Skottorp since the late sixties and probably put Skottorp on the map because many people appreciate the craft. Today, the "Brothers Skottorp" is a commonly used expression. Their interest began when their parents had a summer shop with Swedish crafts. In the beginning, there was only a home-built potters wheels and a small oven. After a period of experimentation and failures, serious production began in 1970. In the early years, crafts were sold to other craft stores. In 1983, interest grew so the current workshop was built, which over the years developed into a modern pottery. The stoneware is only available in Skottorp. Most of the production common items with simple designs and the highest quality. There are differences in form and glaze, because the potters hands make the difference between it being a craft or an industrial product. Our growing number of visitors appreciate the opportunity to follow the production from clay to finished articles. Welcome to Skottorp from Åke and Anders Walldén.
